Additional Information:

Selected main gallery winners will be notified and sent a detailed informational packet, which will guide you in framing and provide you with the delivery date. We will also contact you to determine the overall size of your final framed work.

All other work not selection for the main gallery hanging, will go through a second round of judging and photos will be selected for display in a collage at the gallery. The number of photos selected will be determined by the number of entries and space. Our goal is to include photos from all who entered in the competition. No printing or framing is required for this selected group.

Sales:

Photographers may offer their work for sale. OKMS will have your information on file and the public will be notified to contact us if interested in the photography and we will give you the contact information. All sales will be a private between you and the buyer, and you will be responsible for the collection of Florida Sales Tax. OKMS will not take any commission of art sales.

Rights:

Photographers retain all rights to their work. However, photographers will grant Okeechobee Main Street Inc. the right to use their images to promote the exhibition and for display on OKMS website, social media and promotional print materials.

Framing Requirements:

Framing will be required ONLY on the photography chosen for the main gallery competition. Your work will be shown in a professional gallery setting and these requirements must be followed.

All selected photos must be printed in high-resolution, on quality stock and we recommend using a professional lab. If you have been selected for the final competition then you will want your work to look professional. PLEASE DO NOT POST YOUR NAME ON THE FRONT OF THE PHOTO. You will be given photo credit on a tag mounted next to your work.

Selected photo “print” size must be no smaller than 8” x 10” and MUST BE MATTED AND FRAMED with final framed piece no smaller than 11” x 14”

All work must be delivered ready-to-hang, with a tight wire attached to the frame between one-third and one-quarter of the way down the sides of the piece. Stainless steel braided picture wire works best for smooth hanging. No strings or taping of any kind should be used.

Do not attempt to add a wire hanger to a frame that is not designed for it or that the frame is too thin for a wire hanger. Do NOT try to drill a tiny hole, twist in an eye-hook and attach a wire. Inevitably that will come loose or break and your work will crash to the ground.

Do not use sawtooth hangers. They are not strong enough to support the weight of a frame safely and does not work well with the ceiling hanging system used for this exhibit.

Framing should be done in a contemporary style. Contemporary frames are minimalist in design with clean lines and little to no decorations. Avoid over-powering your photo with brighter, bolder or busier framing materials that distract from it visually, look amateurish, cheap or out-of-place. Frames must be in good condition (no scratches or loose corners) Do not use “snap on” frames, corner-clips with glass or “easel” frames designed for tabletop use.

Photographs should be matted with neutral tones (white, gray or black only) and covered with clean, scratch-free glass or Plexiglas. Again, your photo should stand alone and not compete with an elaborate mat or frame.

Mat size should be appropriate to the piece. A wide mat is better; it expands the work and makes it appear larger. Narrow borders visually reduce the artwork and look cheap. A three to four-inch mat with an extra half-inch on the bottom gives a nice visual feel to a finished piece.

Float-mounting the photo over the mat, so that the edges are seen, is an option when an artwork has a deckle or decorative edge. A spacer within the frame should be used to keep the photo from touching the glass.

Photos on canvas are acceptable as long as they are gallery wrapped and ready to hang with wire hangers. When choosing to wire a canvas artwork, please place the hanging hooks on the inside of the stretcher bar or use D-rings. This way your artwork will hang flush to the wall. The canvas should be stapled on the back and the edges should be a clean finished.

Please inspect your works prior to sending them. Are there fingerprints on the inside of the glass? Is there dust or dirt caught between your art and the glass? If possible, please use archival materials in making and presenting your artwork.

OKMS will communicate closely with selected photographers to assure a smooth process in the hanging of the exhibit. Sizes must be submitted and approved by OKMS before framing is started. There will be size limitations. Enough time will be allowed for the framing process. OKMS will provide guidance on use of standard size mat and framing to aide you in an affordable and professional looking process of framing.

OKMS reserves the right to not hang your artwork if you choose to not frame or wire it appropriately and you will be disqualified from awards. If framing guidelines are not met or final photos not gallery ready, the hanging coordinator may request a change to your framing, with notice, or work may not be hung for competition.

Final Thoughts:

Okeechobee Main Street's Artist Series takes place in a beautiful location and your work will be shown in a professional manner. Whether your photos are shown in the main gallery competition or on the collage presentation, your images will be representing the wonderful community you live in. Your work will be seen not only by the Okeechobee Community but also outside visitors.

The OKMS Arts & Culture Committee looks forward to the entries and thank you for your participation.
